

SWAN

Scientific Women's Academic Network

The purpose of the Scientific Women's Academic Network (SWAN) at Lund University is to connect and inspire women in the natural sciences and support them through their academic and professional life.

Scientific Women's Academic Network - SWAN

SWAN acts as a network with regular meet-ups and events to share knowledge and experience and provide support.

How to become a member

- 1 Decide upon joining SWAN.
Send your preferred e-mail address and name
- 2 to swan@luna.lu.se with a message saying you would like to join the association.
- 3 Wait for a confirmation e-mail.

Upcoming events are announced both through the union's webpage and social media but also through the association's membership mailing list. Membership is not a requirement to attend events.
